TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Mr. Harold Weisberg was employed by me during 1939, 1940, and 1941 when I was Editor-in-Chief and President of CLICK, Inc. Mr. Weisberg served as Washington correspondent and special investigator for the magazine.

Mr. Weisberg specialized in conducting political and economic investigations of a complex nature, and the requirements of his job included excellent physical stamina and prolonged use of his eyes in connection with analyzing great quantities of documentary evidence.

During the period cited Mr. Weisberg performed with distinction and never missed a dead-line despite many situations requiring rush work and prolonged overtime.
